

Program biography for Joe Mull, M.Ed

Joe Mull, M.Ed works with healthcare organizations that need their leaders to become better bosses. He is the former head of Learning & Development for Physician Services at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center (UPMC), where he directed learning strategy and implementation for one of the largest physician groups in the U.S.: over 9,000 employees across 500+ locations. As a speaker, trainer, author, and consultant, Joe travels the country giving healthcare leaders the skills and tools they need to navigate the people management challenges they face every day. His first book Cure for the Common Leader: What Physicians and Managers Must Do to Engage and Inspire Healthcare Teams has been called "one of the most practical healthcare leadership books you will ever read." His newest book No More Team Drama: Ending the Gossip, Cliques, & Other Crap that Damage Workplace Teams is a must read for leaders who want to improve collaboration, morale, and engagement. Joe is the publisher of the bi-monthly Help for Healthcare Leaders email newsletter and host of the bi-monthly instructional YouTube series Your Practice Ain't Perfect. He has taught leadership courses at Ohio University and the University of Pittsburgh and is a Certified MBTI Practitioner. Joe holds a Master's degree in Education from Ohio University and is a Professional member of the National Speakers Association. Joe resides in the suburbs of Pittsburgh, PA with his wife and 3 children.
